A LETTER FROM THE PASTOR

'F' for Editing, 'A' for Authenticity

If I were to grade the conclusion of the Gospel of Mark, I would give it an 'F' and an 'A'. The 'F' is for the editing—or lack thereof—because the Gospel actually has three endings: the original ending at verse 8a, the short ending at 8b, and the long ending which includes verses 9-20. What is going on here?

Part of what is going on is that the ancient world didn't have the same expectations around editing. In fact, the bible preserves multiple renditions of the same story, sometimes within the same text! In Mark, the bible preserves the earlier versions of the ending as well as additions that came from the other gospels, such as the resurrection appearances of Jesus to Mary Magdalene and two disciples on the road, and the ascension of Jesus.

The other thing that is going on is that these three endings lay out the human journey from doubt to belief. The original ending finishes the story with the women coming to the tomb on Easter morning, only to find it empty. They meet an angel who tells them that Jesus is raised, and that they should tell the disciples. But the women flee from the tomb in terror and amazement, and say nothing to anyone, "for they were afraid." The first step in this unknown world of resurrection, into life beyond death, is not liberation, not joy, but fear. The women have entered a completely unknown landscape, and they are afraid.

The longer ending then goes on to say that Mary Magdalene tells Peter and the disciples, but the disciples don't believe her. Finally, after Jesus appears to two other disciples and to the eleven, the disciples finally get it. They go out into the world to proclaim the good news that Jesus is alive, that death isn't the end, and that change doesn't have to be a bad thing—oftentimes it is God's way of transforming the world. The resurrection is, after all, the biggest change there is—from death to life!

I like the multiple endings of Mark, because this pattern of fear, doubt and finally embracing new life is so familiar to me. When faced with change, even a life giving one, I am often filled with fear. I remember preparing to go to college, and suddenly being terrified—"Where will I do my laundry???" The void of the unknown, even when promising territory, is frightening. Likewise, when I get beyond my fear, I often stall making the change, wondering if it is really worth letting go of what is, in order to embrace the new thing. But once I have made the journey through fear and doubt, eventually, like the disciples, I open myself to the new thing God is doing. When I do, I am invariably surprised at how good God is to me, blessing me in the change, opening up possibilities (continued...)

We Are Here For You A reminder that your pastors are here for you whenever you have a pastoral need. We can talk and pray with you over the phone, in a Zoom meeting, or socially distanced in the Hall of the Evangelists. It is easy to feel disconnected during this time of increased social isolation, so feel free to call the office or the pastors directly to set up a time.

(...continued) better than before. In these months as our world emerges from the pandemic, we have the opportunity to embrace the changes that will enlarge and enliven our ministry and lives. We are so grateful to have opportunities to gather in person, to resume group meetings, perhaps even to sing together! It has been such a long time. And at the same time, even as we are eager to return to our pre-pandemic patterns, we must recognize that a year has passed. We have changed. We've suffered and learned, we've trusted and grown, and so we are not the same, and our community will not be the same. It is a resurrection change, a transformation to greater life. We can expect moments of fear and doubt as we travel this journey into post-pandemic life. But we can also expect God's faithfulness. Jesus' life is stronger than death. God's love is stronger than fear and doubt. The resurrection is real, and we get to live it out, day by day.

Mark's gospel may not get high marks for editing, but for me, it gets an 'A' for authenticity. I look forward to seeing what God has in store for us, and embracing the resurrection reality together.

Pastor Julie

GHIAA

Greater Hartford Interfaith Action Alliance recently accomplished a major goal: the elimination of welfare liens in the state of Connecticut. Connecticut was one of two states which hold public assistance (welfare) as a lifelong debt. This meant that people who worked their way out of poverty and no longer received public assistance, having achieved some means of financial success like owning a home, would need to pay back all that they received from the state or the state would claim their property. This led many people who had pulled themselves out of poverty to fall back into poverty and lose their homes and financial resources because of these welfare liens statutes.

After much hard work, advocacy, and education of lawmakers, GHIAA successfully gained bipartisan support for a bill that would eliminate welfare liens in the state of Connecticut. This marks a major achievement for GHIAA and is a perfect example of the work of justice we are called to as people of faith.

St. Matthew's GHIAA core team will be meeting with the core team from Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church in Simsbury via Zoom on Thursday April 15th at 7:00 p.m. If you are interested in attending this meeting or in learning more about GHIAA, contact Pastor Julie or Pastor Brian.

COUNCIL HIGHLIGHTS This past Council meeting was exciting in that a motion was passed to fill a vacant seat. We are happy to announce that George Spoering was approved to join the Council.

It was also exciting to discuss the re-opening of St. Matthew church. Our new President Jason Lindquist has asked Jack Pietrick to continue as the Council liaison to the Reopening Task Force. Together we continue to monitor the ongoing situation.

We are also exploring other avenues of expanding our ministry, such as considering the church grounds as a concert venue in the summer. More on this to follow in the future.

Lastly, we are moving into a new season of spring and the Easter season is upon us. With this in mind we revisited Pastor Julie's strategic plan which guides her work with the Council this year. The pilot group who has participated in the small group study Unbinding the Gospel shared their personal perspectives on the book and the impact the study has made in their lives. The Council is prayerfully considering how we can continue to work with this book by creating new groups to participate in the same work.

COUNCIL PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Greetings all! We continue to move forward into this new year with momentum on our side and a seasoned Council who is ready to roll up its sleeves, dig in, and help renew our ministries as we move toward a post-pandemic era. The payoff of our mortgage, along with a successful stewardship campaign, have provided a financial 'silver lining' in the midst of unprecedented times. Combined with the energy from our reopening task force, our small group gatherings, our youth activities, and vitality of virtual worship, we forge ahead, driven by the hope of once again gathering together in-person with one another in Christ. I look forward to the point in time when I can share fellowship (and that great cup of coffee) with you in-person. Until that time, should you have any questions or just want to chat, feel free to reach out to me anytime via email.

Jason Lindquist, Council President jasonlindquist19@gmail.com

IN-PERSON WORSHIP OUTDOORS: A MESSAGE FROM THE REOPENING TASK FORCE

Due to the increasing rates of COVID-19 infection in our state, the Reopening Task Force has recommended offering in-person worship outdoors instead of inside the sanctuary in the coming weeks.

The Task Force monitors the weekly COVID-19 infection rates for four towns (Avon, Canton, Farmington, Simsbury). These four towns comprise the primary membership of SMLC. For the past two weeks, the COVID-19 infection rate for one or more of these towns has been in the "red zone" (15 positive cases or more per 100,000 per day). The benchmark determined by the Task Force and supported by the Council for worshipping in the sanctuary has been to have all four towns out of the "red zone."

Given the volatile nature of infection rates, as well as the improving weather conditions, the Task Force recommends outdoor worship as the safest in-person option. Outdoor worship has the added advantage of accommodating greater numbers of people as well. The Reopening Task Force will continue to monitor the situation and will recommend resuming in-person indoor worship when it is deemed safe to do so.

Holy Week services will be offered on Zoom and outdoors. The schedule for Sunday services following Easter will be based on the schedule used last fall: 9am worship on Zoom, and 11am worship outdoors.
